

We are well aware of the obstacles faced by your country in advancing progress towards sustainable development. Which mechanisms have you put in place for monitoring the progress of SDGs implementation and how are civil society representatives involved in the process?